And when they got to the graveyard a pumpkin came out of the ground. It said how dare you trespass the unicorn said we are not trespassing we are visiting. You're visiting? Asked the pumpkin. Yes said the unicorn. The pumpkins head fell off and broke the pumpkin died but he turned into a vampire he asked what am I? the unicorn said a vampire. The pumpkin screamed. And said to the zombies ill suck your blood out said the vampire. Me? Asked the unicorn. No said the vampire those zombies behind you. Zombies? Asked the unicorn. Yes said the vampire. Really? Asked the vampire. Yes!! Yelled the vampire. The unicorn looked behind here there were the zombies. What are you doing here? Asked the unicorn. The zombies said we just wanted to be your friends. Then why didn't you just ask? Asked the unicorn. Because we thought you would say no. I would never say no to you two. Ill show you guys around. This is bob he is a skeleton, and this is black cat. Black cat is mean to new people shell get to know you, it takes time. Then a spider jumped on a zombie. The zombie that the spider jumped on screamed. It is just a spider said the unicorn. This is spidery she loves zombies especially girls. Then a witch came out of nowhere this is witchy said the unicorn. Witchy who are they? What are you guy's names? Whispered the Unicorn. The Werewolf Nightmare

By: Moira Foote

This story is a nightmare. A werewolf came into my house with a loud crack at the window. As the window shattered, I hid my head under the covers and heard the werewolf creep into my room. As he uncovered me, I jumped up and started to cry out of fear. With the werewolf behind me, I ran out of my room and down the hall to my mom and dad's room. Knowing the werewolf was right behind me, I knocked loudly on my parents' door until they finally opened the door. As I ran into the room and took a deep breath, I turned on the lights only to see that my parents weren't people; instead, my parents WERE werewolves!
